14. Implementing decisions

- (a) Decisions shall not be implemented until 5 clear days from the publication of the statement of decision(s) of the meeting or the decision¹.
- (b) Paragraph (a) shall not apply where the matter is urgent (in accordance with paragraph 6) or the JWRC determines that the interests of one or more of the constituent authorities, its area or the inhabitants of the area are at risk of suffering unacceptable damage if the decision were not to be implemented directly.
- (c) Where a non-urgent decision is called in by any Scrutiny Committee before it is implemented, implementation of the decision will be deferred until JWRC has had the opportunity to consider any request from the Scrutiny Committee for the re-consideration of the matter.

RIGHTS OF MEMBERS OF CONSTITUENT AUTHORITIES INSPECTION OF/ACCESS TO DOCUMENTS

All Members of the constituent authorities have the right to access all documents which contain material relating to items considered at meetings of the JWRC.

They also have the right to inspect any other document or have access to any information which they need to properly perform their duties as a Member of one of the Authorities. These rights are, however, subject to the following:

- A Member is not entitled to inspect any document, or have access to any information, relating to a matter where the Member is acting against the Council in a professional capacity.
- In cases where information requested by a Member should not, in the opinion of the Chief Executive (or equivalent executive officer), be disclosed, (eg it does not appear to be required to enable the Member to properly perform their duties, or is of a highly sensitive or personal nature or otherwise exempt), the relevant Chief Executive (or equivalent executive officer) may, with good reasons (which should be explained to the Member), refuse access to a document or other information.
- If a Member is not satisfied with this decision, he/she may refer it to the Monitoring Officer of his/her Authority. If a Member remains dissatisfied with the ruling of the Monitoring Officer he/she may ask for the matter to be considered by the JWRC. The ruling of the JWRC is final.

The rules summarised above are complex and based on statutory provisions and case law. If there is any conflict between these rules and the legal provisions, the latter apply.

- Answer the question himself
- Ask an officer to answer the question

A period of up to 30 minutes at the beginning of each meeting shall be allowed for this purpose.

The right to attend remains available when the meeting is considering private (or exempt) business. This is provided that the Member has a legitimate need to be in attendance, and that the attendance does not involve any conflict of interest, which may constitute a prejudicial interest as defined by the Code of Conduct.

The Chairman of the JWRC will exercise discretion on the overall time allowed for Members' participation. This will take into account the issues Members wish to raise and the other business of the meeting.

In managing the meeting the Chairman has discretion over the management of the participation arrangements
